Muddy Gurdy is one of the newest sensations of the moment!

This French trio has revisited North Mississippi blues with a hurdy gurdy as a second guitar.

Their "Muddy Gurdy" album, which was recorded in the countryside of North Mississippi with the talents of Cedric Burnside and Shardé Thomas, blows some fresh new air in the world of blues music.

Winner of the prestigious Coup de Coeur de l'Académie Charles Cros in 2018 and a finalist of the just as prestigious French Académie du Jazz Prize in 2018 alongside Delgres, their album, distributed by American label VizzTone, created a unanimous buzz in the international press.

After the Nuits de l'Alligator tour at the beginning of 2019, they appear on the main stages of the Printemps de Bourges festival, Europavox festival and the Red Rooster Festival in the U.K.

Muddy Gurdy definitely is a band to keep an eye on in the current music scene.
